Questions to ask
How long has the jewelry company been in business?	Are the jewelers certified? yes no
What brand names does the store specialize in?
What style of wedding bands are they known for (traditional, modern, custom designed)?
If they do custom design work, can they show samples of bands they have designed? yes no
If I have a design idea for a custom-designed band, can the designer work with me on that? yes no
If yes, what thoughts do they have after discussing my ideas?
If I have a vintage ring from our family, can the designer work with me to modify it to suit my style? yes no
Working within our budget, what style and type of bands would they recommend?
What types of settings would they recommend, based on the above?
There are many options: white gold, yellow gold, platinum, titanium, palladium. Can they explain what is best for our lifestyle?
If the bands have diamonds, can they explain to us how the diamond grades against the 4Cs (color/cut/clarity/carat*)?
*(Diamond color measures how close a diamond is to being colorless. The more colorless, the more brilliant it appears under light; diamond cut affects its brightness and how much it sparkles when exposed to light; diamond clarity is graded by how visible tiny imperfections in the diamond are at 10x magnification; diamond carat weight is relative to the size of the gem.)
